

A Question of Life

Professor Kate Costeloe, Prof of Paediatrics, Queen Mary, University of London, says: "I would hope that people understand that being born early is a very, very serious business, that survival is not high, and that should children survive, their likelihood of having life-long problems — particularly in respect of learning is high. Bright Asamany, born at 24 weeks, is one of the most severely disabled of all the children who were born in 1995. In this latest study he is described as "functioning at an extremely low level in all areas of development." He was classified as having severe physical and learning disabilities. Some weeks after Bright's birth, a scan revealed that he had suffered a brain haemorrhage. He now has severe cerebral palsy and severe epilepsy. He is entirely dependent on his parents for the care he needs 24 hours a day. His father, Kennedy, says even though he loves his son, if they had another baby born as early as Bright, he would say "turn off the machine, there is no need to continue".

Prof. Costeloe says: "At 23, 24 weeks I have sometimes thought that if these outcomes are as good as they can be, should we be doing this?"

A Question of Life

Professor Kate Costeloe, Prof of Paediatrics, Queen Mary, University of London, says: "I would hope that people understand that being born early is a very, very serious business, that survival is not high, and that should children survive, their likelihood of having life-long problems — particularly in respect of learning is high. Bright Asamany, born at 24 weeks, is one of the most severely disabled of all the children who were born in 1995. In this latest study he is described as "functioning at an extremely low level in all areas of development." He was classified as having severe physical and learning disabilities. Some weeks after Bright's birth, a scan revealed that he had suffered a brain haemorrhage. He now has severe cerebral palsy and severe epilepsy. He is entirely dependent on his parents for the care he needs 24 hours a day. His father, Kennedy, says even though he loves his son, if they had another baby born as early as Bright, he would say "turn off the machine, there is no need to continue".

Prof. Costeloe says: "At 23, 24 weeks I have sometimes thought that if these outcomes are as good as they can be, should we be doing this?"

Ploekton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

The Purpose of Life is...

meaningless: life has no ultimate purpose

Ploekton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

The Purpose of Life is...

to contribute to the greater good of mankind

Ploekton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

The Purpose of Life is...

to improve yourself and build good karma

Ploekton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

The Purpose of Life is...

whatever you make of it

Ploekton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

The Purpose of Life is...

to prepare for something greater

Ploekton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

The Purpose of Life is...

to live in harmony with God

Pleokton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

My Life is...

part of a cosmic experiment

Pleokton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

MyLife is...

in the 'matrix'; virtual reality

Pleokton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

My Life is...

a puppet, a source of amusement

Pleokton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

My Life is...

a work of art, a gloriously creative expression

Pleokton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

My Life is...

a machine, cause and effect with no freedom

Pleokton High School CST S6 Conference 2009

Does Life Have Any Ultimate Purpose?

My Life is...

doomed!

The meaning of our lives is...

Our evidence for this is...

Our concept of God is...

God is...

Our relationship to God
or the universe is...

A vote for us is a vote for ...

The meaning of our lives is...

Our evidence for this is...

Our concept of God is...

God is...

Our relationship to God
or the universe is...

A vote for us is a vote for ...

The meaning of our lives is...

Our evidence for this is...

Our concept of God is...

God is...

Our relationship to God
or the universe is...

A vote for us is a vote for ...

The meaning of our lives is...

Our evidence for this is...

Our concept of God is...

God is...

Our relationship to God
or the universe is...

A vote for us is a vote for ...